

Hello, I am being gang-stalked by a group of people related to the conservatory of Denia. I am studying there. Basically, it's all to do with me rejecting one of the teachers romantically 10 years ago and him never forgiving me. He seems to be from a quite well-connected family and they have even hired a technical expert who hacked my computer. Teachers, admin staff, and others are involved. I can send full details which I have shared with a few people already. It's pretty horrible actually and I'm now convinced they are going to make a false accusation about me to the police, or already have done so. I have been in France for some time on holiday and I'm returning on Sunday. I believe they have organized for something very evil to happen to me next week. I don't know who I can trust. I guess if this happens I will request an English speaking lawyer from the British or Irish consulate. As I mentioned, it's not clear who I can trust so if this does happen I would like some investigatory assistance. Thank you so much, I will call in a while. I just need everything written down. Thanks.
